Gender in the Professions

March 2013

Recent media reports sensationalize the gains women have made in the labor force; at the same time, they highlight the difficulties men have faced in the workplace as of late. However, social scientists argue that such arguments gloss over very important structural gender inequalities. To follow this debate, we have listed the writings by the loudest voices below. The Center for Research on Gender in the Professions offers its own critique of the Decline of Men thesis, based on our new reports on the persistence of male power in three prestigious professions (<http://crgp.ucsd.edu>).
